HAKO

The art of box making

In designing the Hako handle, Danish studio Steffensen & Würtz drew inspiration from the intricate Japanese craft of box making, known as hako-tsukuri, and the meticulous preparation that goes into it. As simple as it may seem, creating a flawless block of wood requires exceptional technical expertise, with every detail carefully honed, from polished edges to the seamless fit of parts and perfectly smooth surfaces. This quest for understated quality embodies the philosophy behind Hako, a handle that decorates by its very presence.

The Hako handle is distinguished by its exquisite woodworking, which masterfully combines a square-profile central body with attachment bases that merge into a single, cohesive element. This join is imperceptible to the touch, revealed only by the interplay of contrasting grain – a hallmark of refined Japanese furniture. Hako's clean, straight lines make it ideal for high-end projects where every accessory exudes exclusivity.

HAKKO BIG

Inspired by Japanese woodworking, Hako Big features a square body with subtly integrated bases, following the precision of hako-tsukuri, a technique that highlights seamless wood joinery. Its oak and walnut finishes align with the trend toward warmer, more natural spaces in contemporary interiors. Designed for wardrobes, drawers, and large-format doors, it allows for single-sided or back-to-back installation. More than a handle, Hako Big pays tribute to structural simplicity and the purity of materials.

HINOKI WOOD BIG

The cherished Japanese cypress

Designer Alexis Vivet has combined the purity and aesthetic timelessness of the Hinoki Wood Big handle with the concepts of integrity and longevity that Japanese culture associates with the Hinoki cypress, a tree that has been cherished in this Asian country for generations. Crafted from a single piece of solid wood, this graceful handle pays homage to the balanced beauty of Eastern design. It is characterised by harmonious proportions, purposeful angles and a meticulously measured design.

CASEY BIG

Understated industrial foundries

German design studio Kaschkasch drew inspiration from the solidity of large foundries – symbols of strength and durability – to create the Casey Big handle. Its cylindrical profile and thoughtful pairing of a smooth handle bar with a rugged base evoke the timeless power of cast metal, a cornerstone of contemporary architecture. With Casey, the texture of freshly forged metal becomes a refined detail for interiors with a bold personality.

The Casey Big aluminium handle brings a fresh, redefined edge to contemporary industrial aesthetics.

Perfect for large kitchens and industrial-style furniture, its robust yet refined design combines innovative materials and finishes that are bound to set new trends.

MOON BIG

Pure and essential shapes

Ilja Huber conceived the design for the Moon Big handle by observing the first moments of a lunar eclipse, just when the Earth's shadow hides part of its silhouette. A complement that radiates elegance and transfers the captivating force of the night sky to interiors that seek sophistication through pure, essential shapes.

Moon Big is a large aluminium handle whose minimalist design captivates with its charming simplicity. Sturdy and pleasing to the touch, it adds character and sophistication to interiors.

Its design has made it one of Viefe's most iconic signature pieces, ideal for fridges, ovens and large doors. Both single-sided and back-to-back mounting systems are available, making it an excellent choice for both interior and sliding doors.

POINT

Modernity with architectural character

The “T” shape of the Point handle stands out for its dot-engraved texture for a better user experience and comfort. Its relief is inspired by the architectural façades of contemporary buildings “perforated” with circular shapes to provide a source of light. Patricia Roig designed this handle with its unique personality with the aim of imbuing spaces with modernity wherever it is installed.

The industrial-style Point handle is highly versatile, both in terms of size and its ability to blend in with different surroundings and furniture styles. It can be fitted to drawers and cabinets, and works particularly well in bathrooms. Its texture, soft and pleasant to the touch, combines a brushed part with textured parts consisting of small dots. As well as providing an engaging feel, this combination adds character to its surroundings.

DUO BIG

Nordic spirit and refined shapes

For many years, traditional wood-turning mills were one of the most important industries in our region, the Ges Valley (Barcelona). Many of them specialised in the manufacture of games, similar to the legendary Burr puzzle with its refined shapes, which inspired the designer Ilja Huber to create the Duo handle.

Duo Big is a warm, Nordic-style handle with a good grip. Linear and free of superfluous details, the aluminium base and wooden handle create a balanced duo perfectly suited to modern spaces imbued with tranquillity.

LUV WOOD BIG

Organic spirit design

“Luv”, a word widely used in sailing, means “against the wind” in German and is the source of inspiration for this handle which reminds us of smooth undulating lines as found on sails and barges. The Kaschkasch studio describes it as an elegant handle with an organic spirit and a playful touch.

RISS BIG

Verticality in balance

“Riss” means “crack” in German. A concept that the Kaschkasch studio reinterprets to create the Riss handles, based on linear crevices present in nature. The purist design is characterised by vertical lines combining with one another in perfect balance to give the handle an innovative appearance enhanced by its different versions in fashionable colours.
